Title IV: Agricultural Trade Suspension Adjustment Act of 1980 - Agricultural Trade Suspension Adjustment Act of 1980 - Amends the Agricultural Act of 1949 to direct the Secretary to increase the price supports for the 1980 and 1981 crops of corn to not less than $2.25 per bushel. Requires the Secretary to announce any feed grain cropland set-aside by November 1 prior to the year in which the crop is harvested.

Directs the Secretary to increase the price supports for the 1980 and 1981 crops of wheat to not less than $3.00 per bushel. Requires the Secretary to announce any wheat cropland set-aside by August 1 prior to the year in which the crop is harvested.

Establishes price supports for the 1980 and 1981 crops of soybeans at not less than $5.02 per bushel.

Directs the Secretary of Agriculture to make available price support loans under the producer storage program for producers of the 1980 and 1981 crops of wheat and feed grains to mitigate the adverse effects of the export restrictions on agricultural products to the Soviet Union. Stipulates that the levels of such loans shall not be used in determining the levels at which producers may or must repay loans prior to their maturity dates. Directs the Secretary to waive interest on such loans. Establishes such price support levels at not less than $3.30 per bushel for wheat, $2.40 per bushel for corn and a fair and reasonable level for other feed grains.

Revises the restrictions on the authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation to sell its stocks of wheat or feed grains to: (1) exempt acquisitions for the food security and trade suspension reserves; (2) set the minimum level for such sales at 105 percent of the then current level at which the Secretary may call for repayment of producer storage loans prior to the maturity dates (formerly, 150 percent of the then current level of price support); and (3) set the minimum level for the sale of corn for use in the production of alcohol for motor fuel at the higher of the price at which producers may repay producer storage loans for the fuel conversion price (formerly set at the release level under the extended loan program). Defines the fuel conversion price as that price which permits gasohol to be competitive in price with unleaded gasoline.

Requires the Corporation to acquire specified minimum amounts of wheat and corn to ensure that export restrictions on agricultural products to the Soviet Union do not adversely affect prices producers receive for agricultural commodities. Prohibits purchases at prices less than the national average market prices producers receive immediately prior to the imposition of such export restrictions.

Directs the President to establish and maintain through September 30, 1985, a reserve stock of wheat to be used for: (1) emergency food assistance to developing countries when domestic supplies are limited; and (2) urgent humanitarian relief to any country suffering a major disaster in circumstances of unanticipated and exceptional need. Permits the replenishment of such reserve through purchases which will not unduly disrupt the market and by designation of stocks of wheat otherwise acquired by the Corporation. Declares that wheat released from such reserve shall be made available under the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, but shall be exempt from the determinations of availability under such Act.

Directs the Secretary to provide for management of stocks of wheat in the reserve to meet emergency situations and for the periodic rotation of such stock to avoid spoilage. Requires the replacement of any wheat removed from the reserve for such purposes. States that such stocks shall not be subject to specified export limitations.

Provides for stocks of wheat remaining in the reserve after September 30, 1985, to be used for emergency food needs in developing countries.

Authorizes the Secretary to use the funds, facilities, and authorities of the Corporation to purchase agricultural products, other than grains, that were intended to be exported to the Soviet Union, but cannot be exported due to the restrictions.

Permits the Secretary to announce and provide for a set-aside of cropland for one or more of he 1980 or 1981 crops of wheat, feed grains, upland cotton, and rice, if such action is in the public interest as a result of export restrictions on such commodities.

Authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a gasohol feedstock reserve and/or a food security reserve of any agricultural commodity of which exports are suspended or restricted for national security or foreign, policy reasons which adversely affect prices. Directs the Secretary to announce, within 30 days of such an export suspension or restriction: (1) if such reserves will be established; and (2) the amount of the commodity that will be placed in such reserves.

Authorizes the Secretary to establish a gasohol feedstock reserve and a food security reserve by purchasing suitable commodities from producers or by designation of stocks held by the Corporation. Sets forth conditions for the sale or release of stocks of such reserves similar to those required for the disposal of stocks acquired to mitigate the adverse effects of export restrictions on agricultural products to the Soviet Union.

Directs the Secretary of Agriculture to establish a program designed to assist persons engaged in the business of processing grain into alcohol for use as fuel so as to utilize those quantities of grain owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation that are surplus to domestic and export needs.

Sets forth requirements relating to the price and amount of such grain.

Directs the Secretary to establish a program of loans to alcohol fuel processors to allow them to purchase and store grain so as to provide them with a dependable supply of grain at a reasonable price.

Establishes an alcohol processor grain reserve program, under which the Secretary shall assist such processors in the costs of storing grain for use in alcohol production.

Directs the Secretary to use the Commodity Credit Corporation to carry out the purposes of the alcohol processor grain reserve program.

Authorizes the Secretary to make loans to any processors eligible for a loan under this Act to assist in the construction or remodeling of a grain storage facility for grain intended for alcohol production. Terminates the Secretary's authority to make such loans five years after enactment of this Act.

Requires the Secretary to announce any set-aside of wheat cropland by August, prior to the year in which the crop is harvested.

Directs the Secretary to carry out demonstration projects to provide agricultural commodities and other foods which might not otherwise be used to community food banks for emergency food box distribution to needy individuals andd families. Authorizes the Secretary to utilize food distribution systems currently used to distribute commodities under the National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966. Directs the Secretary to select food banks representing an adequate geographic distribution for participation in such projects. Sets forth the application and recordkeeping requirements for participating food banks. Directs the Secretary to select the commodities and foods to be made available under such program. Intelligence Oversight Act of 1980 - Amends the National Security Act of 1947 to define "special activity" to mean activity conducted abroad to further official United States programs and policies, which is planned and executed so that the role of the Government is not apparent or acknowledged publicly, but excluding diplomatic activity and the collection of intelligence or related support functions.

Prohibits the expenditure of funds by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) or any other Federal agency for a special activity unless the President: (1) finds that the activity is important to the national security; and (2) reports such activity, before its initiation, to the congressional intelligence committees. (Current law as provided by the Hughes-Ryan Amendment of 1974 requires such reporting to the "appropriate" congressional committees).

Permits such reporting to be deferred for the shortest practicable period upon certification by the President that such deferral was essential to meet extraordinary circumstances affecting vital national interests or to avoid unreasonable risk to the safety or security of the personnel or methods employed.

Stipulates that this notice does not mean prior approval of the committees is required for initiation of intelligence activity.

Requires the heads of Federal entities to: (1) keep the intelligence committees fully and currently informed of all intelligence activities carried out by such entities; (2) furnish information requested by the committees; and (3) report in a timely fashion to such committees any illegal intelligence activity.

Requires the President and the intelligence committees to establish procedures to carry out these requirements.

Directs the House of Representatives and the Senate, in consultation with the Director of Central Intelligence, to establish procedures to protect intelligence information from unauthorized disclosure.

Disapproves the proposed amendments relating to subpoenas, production of statements of witnesses, and revocation or modification of probation.

Revises the proposed amendment relating to the admissibility of pleas to limit the admissibility of plea discussion statements to criminal proceedings for perjury or false statements. (The proposed amendment would make such statements admissible in any proceeding when other statements have been introduced which ought in fairness to be contemporaneously considered.)

Eliminates from the proposed amendment relating to the admissibility of pleas the requirement that plea discussions be with a government attorney in order to be protected from later disclosure (under current law discussions with police officers, for example, are also protected from admission).

Eliminates from the proposed amendment relating to the assignment of counsel the provision requiring, in cases involving joint representation, the court to protect each defendant's right to counsel, unless it appears that there is good cause to believe that no conflict of interest is likely to arise.

Sets forth new procedures governing the revocation and modification of probation. Authorizes a probation officer to issue a summons or the court to issue an warrant if a defendant is alleged to have violated a condition of probation in material respect.

Requires a preliminary hearing to find if there is probable cause to believe that a defendant has violated a condition of probation. Requires the revocation hearing to be held within 60 days of any such order. Entitles a defendant, at the preliminary and revocation hearings, to be represented by counsel, confront and cross-examine witnesses, and present witnesses and evidence.

Authorizes the court, upon a determination by a preponderance of the evidence that probation has been violated, to continue probation unchanged, reprimand the defendant, modify the probation conditions, or revoke probation and impose any sentence initially authorized. Requires such a determination to be made on the record with a statement of reasons within 21 days of the revocation hearing.

Permits a probation officer to arrest a defendant who violates probation in his or her presence by committing a Federal or State offense.

Directs the court to issue a search warrant upon the request of a probation officer who establishes reasonable and articulable grounds to believe that a defendant has violated probation.

Authorizes a State agency to recover fraudulently claimed Federal supplemental compensation by: (1) deductions from Federal supplemental compensation payable to such individual under this Act; or (2) deductions from any unemployment compensation payable to such individual under any other Federal law. Limits any such deduction to 50 percent of the weekly benefit amount from which such deduction is made. Prohibits a State agency from requiring such repayments or deductions until notice and an opportunity for a hearing have been given to an individual and a final determination has been made.

Amends the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970 to begin extended unemployment benefits with the third week after the week for which there is a State "on" indicator and to end such benefits with the third week after the first week for which there is a State "off" indicator.

Changes the definition of a State "on" indicator to include: (1) a week in which the insured unemployment rate for the period consisting of such week and the immediately preceding twelve weeks equaled or exceeded 120 percent of the average of such rates for the corresponding 13 weeks in each of the preceding two calender years, and equaled or exceeded four percent; or (2) a week in which there is a national "on" indicator for such week, equaled or exceeded four and one-half percent. Defines a State "off" indicator to be a week in which neither condition is satisfied. Authorizes a State to provide that any determination of an extended benefit period be made as if the four and one-half percent figure relating to the national "on" indicator were three and one-half percent or such other percentage as the State may specify which is less than four and one-half percent but not less than three and one-half percent. Repeals a specified provision relating to the amount of sharable extended compensation or sharable regular compensation payable to the States.

Prohibits payment of extended compensation under such Act to any individual for any week of unemployment in his eligibility period if such individual is unemployed becuase he voluntarily left employment, was discharged for misconduct, or refused suitable employment. Makes the preceding amendments effective on April 1, 1980.

Requires any agreement entered into under this Act by any State to provide that no Federal supplemental compensation shall be payable for any week of unemployment: (1) to an individual who did not receive such compensation for the immediately preceding week unless the rate of insured unemployment in such State for a specified period equaled or exceeded three and three-quarters percent; or (2) to an individual who is unemployed because he voluntarily left employment, was discharged for misconduct, or refused suitable employment as determined under State law.

Prohibits payment of compensation under this Act to any individual for any week of unemployment after November 30, 1980: (1) during which he fails to accept any offer of, or fails to apply for, suitable work; or (2) during which he fails to actively engage in seeking work. Sets forth the weeks during which such individuals shall remain ineligible to receive compensation. Defines the term "suitable work" to mean any work which is within an individual's capabilities unless the individual satisfies the State agency that such individual's prospects for obtaining work in his customary occupation within a reasonably short period are good.

Prohibits the denial of compensation to any individual who fails to accept an offer of, or apply for, suitable work: (1) if the average weekly remuneration payable to such individual for the position does not exceed a specified sum; (2) if the position was not offered in writing and was not listed with the State employment service; (3) if such failure would not result in a denial of compensation under the provisions of the applicable State law; or (4) if the position pays wages less than a specified amount. Requires an individual to be treated as actively engaged in seeking work if the individual has engaged in a systematic and sustained effort to obtain work and provides evidence of such effort to the State agency.

Amends title IX (Miscellaneous Provisions Relating to Employment Security) of the Social Security Act to establish a Federal Employees Compensation Account in the Unemployment Trust Fund. Requires that the Account consist of: (1) funds appropriated to or transferred thereto; and (2) deposits by each Federal agency based on Federal service performed by its employees. Requires that moneys in the Account be available only for making specified payments to States.

Directs the Secretary of Labor to: (1) determine the amount of such deposits; (2) certify the required quarterly amount to the Secretary of the Treasury; (3) estimate yearly expenditures from, and funds available to, the Account; and (4) certify any excess amount in the Account beyond what is needed to pay the expenditures and provide for a reasonable contingency fund. Directs the Secretary of the Treasury to: (1) transfer such excess amount from the Account to the general fund of the Treasury; and (2) notify the Secretary of Labor as to the date and amount of any deposit made to the Account by any agency.

Authorizes appropriations of sums necessary to assure sufficient sums available in the Account, at all times, and to meet expenditures authorized to be made from moneys therein.

Transfers on November 1, 1980, to the Federal Employees Compensation Account all funds appropriated for fiscal year 1979 or 1980 which are available for making specified payments to States.

Amends the Internal Revenue Code to provide that the credit against employment tax liability available to an employer shall not be reduced due to advances made to the unemployment account of a State under title XII (Advances to State Unemployment Funds) of the Social Security Act, if such State repays during the one-year period ending on November 9 of the taxable year the advances made to its unemployment account and such repayments are not less than the sum of the State's potential additional taxes for the taxable year, plus any advances made to [illegible] State during the one-year period.

Empowers the Secretary of Labor to require a State to furnish any information necessary to determine if such State has made proper repayments.

Limits the amount of credit reduction with respect to the unemployment tax applied to States which have met the specified solvency requirements regarding the State unemployment compensation system to the greater of: (1) 20 percent of the unemployment tax; or (2) the percentage credit reduction in effect for the State in question for the preceding taxable year.

Directs the Secretary of Labor to determine for any State whether the solvency requirements are met. Sets forth as State solvency requirements that: (1) the outstanding balance of such State's unemployment fund advances on the preceding September 30 was not greater than the outstanding balance on the second preceding September 30; (2) no State action was taken during the 12-month period ending on the preceding September 30 which has resulted or will result in a reduction of such State's unemployment tax effort; and (3) no State action was taken during such period which has resulted or will result in a net decrease in the solvency of the State unemployment compensation system. Authorizes the Secretary to alter such determinations if specified information is not timely made available by the State. Prohibits taking into account any taxable year for which a State was subject to such a limitation in determining consecutive taxable years with respect to taxable years for which a State is not subject to such a limitation. Applies specified definitions and special rules to the limitation on credit reduction.

Waives advances made to a State's unemployment funds during a one year period in determining such State's eligibility for the State payment in lieu of a credit reduction if such State's insured unemployment rate during any 26 consecutive weeks within that fiscal year reaches a specified percentage. Prohibits application of the solvency requirement, regarding a State's outstanding balance of advances to its unemployment funds, to a State whose insured unemployment rate during the preceding fiscal year reaches a specified percentage. Requires any State which avails itself of such waiver to repay a specified part of its outstanding balance within 24 months of the beginning of a subsequent fiscal year during which the unemployment rate decreases. Excludes any State which does not make such repayments from eligibility for release from limitations on allowable tax credits for State taxpayers and for a limit on credit reduction until such repayments are made.

Prohibits payment of extended compensation to any individual for any week of unemployment in his eligibility period unless such individual: (1) had at least 20 weeks of covered employment during his base period; or (2) had earnings in covered employment during his base period equal to or greater than the average weekly wage for covered employment in the individual's State, multiplied by 20. Authorizes each State to select which alternative shall apply in such State or to select which alternative shall apply in such State or to provide that individuals may meet either alternative. Applies such requirements to the extended or sharable regular compensation otherwise payable to any individual only to the extent that such compensation, when added to the extended and regular compensation previously payable to such individual for the benefit year, would exceed an amount equal to 26 times such individual's weekly benefit amount. Makes this provision effective with respect to weeks of unemployment beginning on or after December 31, 1981.

Directs the Council to establish a voluntary scientific and statistical advisory committee to assist in the development, collection, and evaluation of specified information relevant to the Council's development and amendment of a regional conservation and electric power plan. Authorizes the Council to establish such other voluntary advisory committees as necessary or appropriate to assist it.

Directs the Council to prepare a regional conservation and electric power plan, giving priority in decreasing order of importance, to conservation, renewable resources, energy resources derived from utilizing waste heat or having high fuel conversion efficiency, and other resources. Sets forth the components of such plan, including: (1) an energy conservation program; (2) recommendations for research and development; (3) a methodology for determining environmental and social costs and benefits of conservation measures taken under this Act; (4) a 20-year demand forecast of power resources required to meet the Administrator of the Bonneville Power Administration's obligations and the portion of such obligations which can be met by resources in each of the above priority categories; (5) an analysis of reserve and reliability requirements and cost-effective methods of providing reserves; and (6) a methodology for determining surcharges, if surcharges are recommended by the Council.

Directs the Council to study energy conservation measures and analyze the result of the implementation of such measures.

Directs the Council and the Administrator of the Bonneville Power Administration to inform the Pacific Northwest public of major regional power issues to insure widespread public involvement in the formulation of regional power policies.

Directs the Council to: (1) solicit recommendations from the region's State and Federal fish and wildlife agencies and appropriate Indian tribes for measures to protect, mitigate, and enhance fish and wildlife resources affected by the development and operation of any hydroelectric project of the Columbia River and its tributaries and for fish and wildlife research and development; and (2) develop a program based on the recommendations consisting of measures to protect, mitigate and enhance fish and wildlife affected by any hydroelectric project while assuring the Pacific Northwest a reliable and efficient power supply.

Directs the Administrator to utilize the Bonnevile Power Administration fund and the authorities available under this Act and other applicable laws to finance such fish and wildlife protection and enhancement activities.

Directs the Council to submit an annual report to specified congressional committees on the actions taken and to be taken by the Council regarding such fish and wildlife protection and enhancement activities.

Directs the Council, by a specified date, to complete a thorough analysis of the costs and the equity of the conservation measures and conservation resources implemented pursuant to this Act to consumers in the Pacific Northwest region.

Directs the Administrator to offer to sell electric power to each requesting public body and cooperative entitled to preference under the Bonneville Project Act of 1937 and to each requesting investor-owned utility to meet that entity's firm power load which exceeds its resource capability for meeting the previous year's firm loan requirements.

Directs the Administrator, subject to certain stipulations, to purchase electric power from a Pacific Northwest utility if offered at the "average system cost" of resources then available to that utility, and to offer, in exchange, to sell an equivalent amount of electric power to such utility for resale to that utility's residential users within the region. Directs the Administrator to determine the "average system cost" on the basis of a methodology developed by the Council and subject to the review and approval by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Authorizes the Administrator to sell electric power to existing direct service industrial customers which presently have contracts for the purchase of electric power from the Administrator, so long as such sale provides a portion of the reserves for firm power loads within the region.

Prohibits the Administrator from selling electric power, including reserves, directly to new direct service industrial customers or to existing direct service industrial customers in excess of the amount permitted above unless the Administrator determines that such proposed sale is consistent with the plan, is approved by the Council, and meets certain additional requirements.

Authorizes the Administrator to sell, or otherwise dispose of, electric power, including acquired power, that is surplus to obligations incurred in accordance with this Act and other applicable statutes.

Sets forth provisions regarding negotiations for, and offers to enter into, initial long term contracts for the sale and/or exchange of electric power.

Directs the Administrator to acquire electric power resources through conservation, to implement all conservation measures, and to acquire such renewable resources, which are installed, by a residential or small commercial consumer to reduce load, as the Administrator determines are consistent with the criteria for developing the regional conservation and electric power plan, and in the case of major resources, as provided in this Act. Provides that such measures and resources may include: (1) loans and grants to consumers for insulation, weatherization, increased system efficiency, and waste energy recovery; (2) technical and financial assistance to, and other cooperation with, the Administrator's customers and governmental authorities to encourage conservation; (3) aiding such customers and authorities in implementing model conservation standards adopted pursuant to this Act; and (4) conducting demonstration projects to determine the cost-effectiveness of conservation measures and direct application of renewable energy resources.

Directs the Administrator, when proposing to acquire any major resource, when implementing a conservation measure which will conserve electric power in an amount equal to that of a major resource, when paying or reimbursing investigation and preconstruction expenses of the sponsors of a major resource, or when granting billing credit involving a major resource to: (1) conduct public hearings; (2) give notice of the proposed action to the Council, the Governor of each affected State, and the Administrator's customers; and (3) publish such notice in the Federal Register. Prohibits the Administrator from implementing any such proposed action without submitting to the appropriate congressional committees the administrative record of the decision.

Establishes procedures to be followed when the Administrator wishes to acquire a resource, which does not meet the criteria of this Act, for experimental, developmental, or demonstration purposes, but which has a potential for providing cost-effective service to the region.

Establishes procedures to be followed for entering into agreements for resources the Administrator determines to be consistent with the plan.

Authorizes the Administrator to grant billing credits and provide services to a customer, subject to certain limitations, for such customer's independent conservation activities, and for resources acquired by the customer which reduce the obligation of the Administrator to acquire resources under this Act.

Directs the Administrator to investigate opportunities for adding to the region's resources or reducing the region's power costs through the accelerated or cooperative development of resources located outside the States of Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington, if such resources are renewable resources and are planned or considered for development by nonregional agencies which would own, sponsor, or otherwise develop them.

Directs the Administrator to establish rates for: (1) the sale and disposition of electric power and the transmission of non-Federal power; and (2) electric power sold to meet the general requirements of public body, cooperative, and Federal agency customers within the Pacific Northwest, and electric utility customers. Sets forth guidelines to be followed in establishing such rates.

Authorizes the Administrator to make annual impact aid payments from the Fund to local governments within the region with respect to major transmission facilities which: (1) are within the jurisdictions of such governments; (2) have a substantial impact on such governments; and (3) are completed after the effective date of this Act. Directs the Administrator to determine the amounts of such payments by a regionwide, uniform formula established by rule under the rate-setting procedures set forth in this Act.

Amends the Federal Columbia River Transmission System Act to authorize the Administrator: (1) to make expenditures from the Bonneville Power Administration fund for making such payments as are required under this Act; (2) to issue and sell bonds on behalf of the Bonneville Power Administration in order to implement authority under this Act to provide financial assistance for conservation measures, renewable resources, and fish and wildlife; and (3) purchase electric power on a short term basis to meet obligations which may arise because of actions taken under this Act to protect, mitigate and enhance fish and wildlife.

Increases the aggregate principal amount of any bonds outstanding at one time after October 1, 1981, by $1,250,000,000, and provides that such amount shall be reserved for the purposes of providing funds for conservation and renewable resources loans and grants in a special revolving account created in the Bonneville Power Administration fund. Authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to increase the interest rate on such bonds issued by the Administrator if, beginning in fiscal year 1982, the Administrator fails to repay by the end of any fiscal year all the amounts projected to be repaid to the Treasury under the repayment criteria of the Secretary of Energy because of reasons other than a decrease in power sale revenues due to fluctuating streamflows or reasons beyond the Administrator's control.

Motor Vehicle Safety and Cost Savings Authorization Act of 1980 - Amends the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966 to authorize appropriations for fiscal years 1980, 1981, and 1982 for traffic and motor vehicle safety.

Amends the Motor Vehicle Information and Cost Savings Act to authorize appropriations for: (1) automobile bumper standards; (2) consumer information studies; (3) diagnostic inspection demonstration projects; and (4) odometer requirements.

Specifies that the impact test velocity used in the bumper standards shall be 2.5 miles per hour for longitudinal impact test procedures and 1.5 miles per hour for corner impact test procedures. Denies the Secretary of Transportation authority to establish any impact test velocity exceeding the aforementioned speeds before September 1, 1982. Directs the Secretary, within 18 months after the close of model year 1982, to promulgate a bumper standard in accordance with specified requirements.

Directs the Secretary to submit to the President for transmittal to Congress an annual report regarding the progress made on carrying out this Act. Sets forth information to be included in such report.

Authorizes the Secretary to exempt those classes of motor vehicles for which the Secretary finds that odometer readings have no meaningful relation to value or performance. Directs the Secretary to publish, together with the rule containing such exemption, the findings of fact which support the exemption and an analysis of the reasons for such exemption.

Sets forth procedures for the notification, by the manufacturer by first class mail, of the most recent purchaser of a tire that has been determined to be unsafe or defective. Directs that public notice be made under certain circumstances. Prohibits the Secretary from establishing any rule that requires a tire dealer or distributor to compile records of tire sales. Directs the Secretary to require such dealers or distributors to furnish the first purchaser of a tire with a form that such purchaser may complete and return directly to the manufacturer.

Specifies that, in determining a State's compliance with enforcement of the 55 miles-per-hour speed limit, a sampling technique rather than a monitoring of all vehicles would suffice.

Directs the Secretary to amend the standard to require that affected automobile manufacturers install passive occupant restraints (airbags) in all passenger cars having wheel bases not greater than 100 inches in model year 1983 and in all passenger cars manufactured in model year 1984 and thereafter. Defines "affected manufacturers" as those that produced more than 1,600,000 passenger cars worldwide and sold more than 200,000 passenger cars in the United States in model year 1979.

Directs that passive seatbelt assemblies installed in passenger cars beginning in model year 1983 shall be detachable by the user in a manner that does not impair the subsequent reattachment and performance of such assemblies.

Exempts manufacturers from installing passive occupant restraint systems in certain passenger car models to be discontinued on or after December 31, 1982.

H. Con. Res. 107 Rep. Giaimo, et al.; 4/13/79

Revises the second concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 1979.

Sets forth the congressional budget for the United States Government for fiscal year 1980.

States that: (1) the recommended level of Federal revenues is $509,000,000,000, and the amount by which the aggregate level of Federal revenues should be decreased is zero; (2) the appropriate level of total new budget authority is $604,050,000,000; (3) the appropriate level of total budget outlays is $532,000,000,000; (4) the amount of the deficit in the budget which is appropriate in the light of economic conditions and all other relevant factors is $23,000,000,000; and (5) the appropriate level of the public debt is $887,200,000,000, and the amount by which the statutory limit on such debt should accordingly be increased is $57,200,000,000.

Specifies the appropriate levels of new budget authority and the estimated budget outlays for each major functional category in fiscal year 1980.

Sets forth aggregate budgetary levels recommended by the Senate for fiscal years 1981 and 1982 which create a budget surplus in both years, and allow for a decrease in total Federal revenues in fiscal year 1982.

Projects budget aggregates for fiscal years 1981 and 1982 based on existing policies of the House which allow for a budget surplus in both years.

Recommends that a way be found within the Congressional budget process to relate accurately the estimates of off-budget Federal entities and capital expenditures to the unified budget.

Directs each standing committee of the House of Representatives to report to the House by July 1, 1979, its recommendations and the status of its actions with respect to new spending authority including all legislative savings, and other reforms, targeted by the first concurrent resolution on the budget for fiscal year 1979.

Requires each standing committee of the House to include in its March 15, 1980, report to the Budget Committee of the House: (1) recommendations as to all possible legislative savings for the programs under its jurisdiction; and (2) estimates of the unobligated balances of budget authority and steps which are being taken and which might be taken to reduce such balances.

employees compensated by more than one employing authority of the House, interns, employees on leave without pay, and temporary employees. Stipulates that employees designated as temporary employees or interns shall not be eligible to participate in the health and life insurance program or the Civil Service Retirement Act.

Amends the Rules of the House of Representatives to specify that committees shall have responsibility for considering and reporting any provisions within their subject matter jurisdiction whether contained in an introduced bill, resolution, or committee amendment.

Directs the Speaker of the House to prescribe an appropriate time limitation for committees to consider any bill or resolution, and that upon expiration of such limitation, such committee shall be discharged from further consideration if it has not taken any formal action. Provides that referrals of a bill divided into two or more parts to different committees may be concurrent or sequential. Requires the Speaker, when making such referrals, to designate the committee which has predominant jurisdiction as the committee of primary responsibility, and to prescribe a time period within which other committees of referral shall make their report. Allows the referral to other than the primary committee either at the initial time of referral or after the matter has been reported by the committee or committees initially referred.

Nuclear Waste Policy Act - Title I: Findings and Purpose - Declares it to be the purpose of this Act to: (1) assume Federal responsibility for acquisition and storage of spent fuel and the disposal of radioactive waste from civilian nuclear activities; (2) establish a Federal policy for the disposal of high-level radioactive waste; (3) authorize the Secretary of Energy to acquire or design and construct facilities for nuclear waste interim storage and disposal, and finance the construction, operation and maintenance of such facilities; and (4) examine alternative technologies for nuclear wate disposal.

Title III: Interim Storage of Spent Fuel from Civilian Nuclear Powerplants - Declares it to be the policy of the Federal Government to provide, as soon as possible, an assured and predictable capacity for the interim storage of spent fuel from civilian nuclear powerplants. Requires that such policy provide for: (1) maximizing the storage of such spent fuel at each civilian nuclear powerplant site; and (2) the establishment of a federally owned and operated system for the interim storage of spent fuel at one or more away-from-reactor facilities.

Directs the Secretary, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, and other appropriate Federal officials to take such actions as they consider necessary to expedite the use of available storage at each civilian nuclear powerplant site consistent with specified considerations.

Directs the Secretary to enter into contracts which provide that the Federal Government will: (1) take title to spent fuel from nuclear powerplants within the U.S.; (2) transport and store such spent fuel in Federal facilities; and (3) dispose of waste products associated with such spent fuel. Provides for a one-time payment by such electric utility in an amount adequate to cover the proportionate costs of such transportation, storage, and disposal.

Authorizes the Secretary to construct or acquire at least one away-from-reactor facility for the interim storage of such spent fuel. Directs the Secretary to: (1) to contract with private industry to provide for the transportation of spent fuel; and (2) use direct Federal services for such transportation only upon a determination of the Secretary of Transportation that private industry is unable or unwilling to provide such services.

Directs the Secretary to take possession of and transport to a designated storage facility any spent fuel covered by specified contracts under this Act when an interim away-from-reactor storage facility is available, within 30 days of written notice by the owner that such spent fuel is available.

Requires that specified funds be available for fiscal year 1980 to construct or acquire such interim away-from-reactor storage facilities.

Title IV: Disposal of High-level Radioactive Waste Resulting from Civilian Nuclear Activities - Directs the Secretary to transmit to Congress within one year from the date of enactment a proposal for a system of at least one facility for the disposal of high-level radioactive waste resulting from civilian nuclear activities. Sets forth the scope and formulation of such proposal.

Directs the Secretary to continue and accelerate programs of: (1) research, development, and demonstration of the geologic disposal in mined repositories of high-level radioactive waste from civilian nuclear powerplants, with the objective of completion of construction and initial operation of at least one demonstration repository by January 1, 1988; and (2) research, development, and investigation of alternative technologies for the disposal of high-level radioactive waste from civilian and national defense activities. Directs the Secretary to report findings and recommendations resulting from such programs to Congress in a specified manner.

Title V: Financial Arrangements - Establishes in the Treasury of the United States a separate account to provide for the operation of the interim storage and disposal program.

Permits the Secretary to borrow from the Treasury such amounts as may subsequently be provided in Appropriation Acts, but not to exceed $300,000,000. Provides for the terms and repayment of such borrowings.

Title VI: Low Level Waste - Directs the President to prepare and submit to Congress, within 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act, a report which: (1) defines the disposal capacity needed; (2) defines and evaluates the status of all commercial low-level nuclear waste disposal sites, including those at specified locations, with recommendations for remedial actions and regulatory reforms which the Secretary considers appropriate; (3) evaluates the transportation requirements; (4) evaluates the ability of the Department of Energy to provide interim storage; (5) estimates costs of such storage; and (6) recommends additional research and development work concerning low-level waste facilities, as needed.

Directs the Secretary, in relation to such report and recommendations, to consult with the Governors of the several States, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, the Environmental Protection Agency, the U.S. Geological Survey, the Department of Transportation, and other appropriate agencies and departments.

Increases the basic pay and allowance rate in effect as of January 1, 1980, to the amount that would have been granted Federal employees if the President had not submitted an alternate pay plan for pay grades E-4 through E-9, W-1 through W-4, and 0-3 through 0-5.

Installment Sales Revision Act of 1980 - Amends the Internal Revenue Code to revise the rules for reporting gain on the sale of real and personal property under the installment sales method.

Eliminates the requirement that the seller, under an installment sales agreement, receive no more than 30 percent of the selling price in the taxable year of the sale. Eliminates the $1,000 minimum sales price requirement with respect to the casual sale of personalty under an installment sales agreement.

Defines "installment sale" as a disposition of property in which at least one payment is made after the taxable year in which the disposition occurs (presently, Internal Revenue Service regulations require two or more subsequent payments). Excludes from installment sales treatment dispositions of personal property by individuals who regularly deal in such property and dispositions of inventories of personal property.

Provides that all sales of real and personal property which qualify under the terms of this Act as installment sales shall be automatically treated as such, unless the taxpayer elects out of such treatment.

Accelerates the recognition of gain from the installment sale of property (other than marketable securities) by a taxpayer to a related individual (spouse, children, grandchildren, and parents, but not brothers and sisters) if the related individual disposes of the property to a third party before the taxpayer receives all payments with respect to such disposition. Specifies that such acceleration shall occur only if the date of the disposition to the third party is not more than two years after the date of the original disposition. Limits the amount of gain which the taxpayer must recognize from the disposition of the property by a related individual to a third party to the excess of the amount realized by the second sale over the actual payments made under the original installment sale. Exempts from the operation of the related party disposition rule the following transactions: (1) reacquisitions of stock by issuing corporations; (2) involuntary conversions if the original installment sale occurred before the threat of condemnation; (3) dispositions after the death of the taxpayer or the related party; and (4) dispositions which do not evidence tax avoidance as a principal purpose.

Excludes the receipt of like-kind property in determining gain recognized for installment sale reporting purposes (reverses the Internal Revenue Service regulation which holds that the receipt of like-kind property results in the recognition of installment gain even though the taxpayer receives no cash in the transaction).

Provides for the nonrecognition of gain from the receipt by a shareholder of installment obligations as liquidating obligations from a corporation which adopts a 12 month plan of liquidation as provided for under specified provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.

Treats the cancellation of an installment obligation as a disposition of such obligation, thus requiring the immediate recognition of gain realized from the installment sale. Requires the market value of a cancelled obligation to be stated at not less than its face amount if the obligor and obligee are related individuals.

Treats as a reacquisition by the seller, with no recognition of gain or loss, the acquisition of real property by a taxpayer holding an installment obligation acquired from a decedent, which is indebtedness to such seller. Increases the basis of real property so acquired by the amount of the estate tax deduction allowed for income received in respect of a decedent which would otherwise have been allowable to the taxpayer with respect to the gain on the exchange of the obligation for the real property.

Directs the Secretary, in utilizing such additional authority on and after October 1, 1980, to accommodate, to the maximum extent possible, desires of local governments regarding the allocation of assistance among new, substantially rehabilitated, and existing housing units. Directs the Secretary, in so doing, to limit, to the maximum extent possible, the budget authority allocated to local areas to the amount which would result if, on a nationwide basis taking account of local variations, 30 percent of the units to be assisted under such Act for public housing development or lower-income housing assistance with such additional authority were to be for new construction or substantial rehabilitation. Requires that the Secretary seek to ensure that, consistent with available funding limitations, at least 30 percent of the units shall be: (1) either newly constructed or substantially rehabilitated housing units assisted under such Act (other than under the existing low-income housing assistance program or the multifamily rental production program established by this Act); or (2) newly constructed or substantially rehabilitated housing units under the low-income housing assistance program which are financed through specified means. Authorizes the Secretary to provide annual contributions in the form of interest reduction payments pursuant to contracts with owners or prospective owners of new or substantially rehabilitated rental housing projects involving five or more dwelling units.

Provides that interest be subsidized down to a rate determined by the Secretary, guided by the objective that the average of all such lower rates shall be six and one-half percent per year for the first ten years, with lower or higher rates depending on factors in the local area or involving the specific project. Requires that interest rate differential for a project not insured under the National Housing Act not exceed the applicable rate if the mortgage were so insured.

Provides that, commencing with the eleventh year of such payments for a project, the amount of the annual payment shall be phased out in accordance with a schedule determined at the time the contract was entered into or altered by mutual agreement of the Secretary and the owner.

Limits the allowable income at the time of initial occupancy of a household occupying a unit in such project to 120 percent of the area median income, during the period when interest reduction payments are being made. Authorizes the Secretary to establish higher or lower income ceilings, if necessary, because of prevailing construction cost levels, unusually high or low median household incomes, or other factors.

Permits a project financed by a local government agency to receive such assistance if the Secretary is satisfied that: (1) at least 20 percent of the units in any project being financed by such agency will be reserved for lower income families at the time they initially occupy the unit; and (2) at least six percent of the units in such project will be reserved for very low income families at the time they initially occupy the unit.

Directs the Secretary, in allocating interest reduction assistance, to give preference to projects located in tight rental markets and to projects promoting urban revitalization. Provides that specified provisions of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 relating to local housing assistance plans and allocation of housing funds shall not be applicable to projects receiving such multifamily rental production interest reduction assistance, except to the extent that provisions relating to the low-income housing assistance program would otherwise apply.

Limits the amount of contracts for annual contributions under the multifamily rental production program to such amounts as are provided in appropriations Act. Authorizes appropriations for sums necessary to carry out such program, including the making of interest reduction payments under contracts entered into by the Secretary. Limits the budget authority obligated under such contracts to a specified amount. Provides that such authorization of appropriations shall apply only if: (1) the additional authority to enter into contracts for annual contributions provided on October 1, 1980, for low-income housing assistance and for public housing does not exceed a specified amount; and (2) the budget authority associated with such additional authority does not exceed a specified amount.

Limits the deductible amount to a maximum 25 percent of the compensation otherwise paid or accrued to all employees under the plan for the taxable year.

Allows any ESOP to retain its qualified status even though it provides for cash distributions and denies any participant the right to demand a distribution in the form of employer securities.

Exempts such an ESOP from the limitations otherwise imposed on annual additions to an employee stock ownership plan.

Exempts from the requirement that employer securities must stay in the plan securities distributed as a benefit to a participant as the result of a transaction in which the employer ceases to be a member of a controlled group of corporations with the corporation whose stock constitutes employer securities under the plan.

Real Estate Construction and Rehabilitation Tax Incentives Act of 1980 - Title I: Capital Cost Recovery Treatment of New Section 1250 Property - Amends the Internal Revenue Code to require a 20-year straight line depreciation of depreciable real property placed into service after the effective date of this Act. Provides transitional rules for property already in service. Excepts from such 20-year requirement low-income rental housing, which must undergo a 15-year straight line depreciation.

Title II: Investment Tax Credit for Section 1250 Property - Permits a taxpayer, in lieu of the new depreciation schedule set forth in title I of this Act, to elect to take a one-time ten percent investment tax credit. Limits such credit to property placed in service between January 1, 1981 and December 31, 1984. Requires recapture, in whole or in part, if the property is sold within five years after being placed in service.

Directs the Secretary of the Treasury to report to Congress by January 1, 1984, on the effectiveness and efficiency of this title as an incentive for the construction of new section 1250 property.

Title III: Deduction of Construction Period Interest and Taxes - Repeals current law requiring amortization of construction period interest and taxes. Allows the taxpayer to elect: (1) to treat the unamortized balance of such interest and taxes as chargeable to capital account; or (2) to deduct such unamortized balance for the first taxable year ending after December 31, 1980.

Title IV: Extension and Expansion of Existing Incentives - Repeals expiration dates, thus making permanent Code provisions: (1) permitting rapid amortization of rehabilitation expenses for low-income rental housing; (2) prohibiting accelerated depreciation for new structures built on historic sites; (3) providing for favorable depreciation of rehabilitated historic property; (4) encouraging the removal of architectural barriers; and (5) prohibiting deductions for the demolition of historic structures.

Provides for rapid amortization of rehabilitation expenses for all residential rental housing (currently such rapid amortization is limited to low-income rental housing). Increases: (1) from $3,000 to $5,000 the minimum depreciable per unit expenditure; and (2) from $20,000 to $30,000 the maximum depreciable per unit expenditure.

Title V: Condominium and Cooperative Cost Reduction - Denies capital gains treatment for proceeds from the sale of dwelling units converted from rental housing to condominium or cooperative housing, unless the terms and conditions of such sales have been negotiated with, and agreed to by, an organization representing at least 51 percent of the dwelling units occupied or sublet by tenants as of the date all tenants received notice of proposed conversion.

Allows nonrecognition of up to 50 percent of the long term capital gain from the qualified sale of residential rental property if the taxpayer: (1) has used such property in his or her trade or business; and (2) within 24 months after such sale enters into a binding contract for the construction of section 1250 residential rental property. Requires reduction of the nonrecognition portion of such gain by one-half of the amount (if any) by which the proceeds of the sale exceed the cost of construction of the new residential real property. Limits "qualified sale" to a sale where: (1) not less than 50 percent of the dwelling units are sold to purchasers of low or moderate income, or the entire property is sold to a qualified tenants' organization; and (2) there is substantial likelihood that the overall economic character of dwelling unit owners will remain the same as the units are sold to subsequent purchasers.

States that the basis of newly constructed rental property shall not be reduced by the amount of unrecognized capital gain.

Directs the Secretary to consult with the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development in developing regulations to carry out this title.

Title VI: Removal of Impediments to New Real Property Development - Excepts depreciable real property investments from the limitation on the deduction of investment indebtedness interest for individuals.

Permits advance refunding of tax-exempt housing bonds, and use of the proceeds of such bonds to remove existing first liens to allow rehabilitation.

Title VII: Effective Dates - Sets January 1, 1981 as the effective date of this Act.

Amends the Federal Water Pollution Control Act to direct (formerly authorized) the Secretary of the Army, acting through the Chief of Engineers, to issue permits for the discharge of dredged or fill material into navigable waters at a disposal site or sites specified by the applicant (formerly specified by the Secretary), unless the Secretary determines that such site cannot be specified through the application of certain guidelines or other considerations.

Limits the definition of "navigable waters" for purposes of such permits to mean all waters which are presently used, or are susceptible to use in their natural condition or by reasonable improvement as a means to transport interstate or foreign commerce shoreward to their ordinary high water mark, including all waters which are subject to the ebb and flow of the tide shoreward to their mean high water mark.

Declares that the discharge of dredged or fill material in waters other than navigable waters (as limited by such definition) is not prohibited by or otherwise subject to regulation under any Act of Congress.

Repeals provisions relating to State programs of permits for the discharge of dredged or fill material into other types of navigable waters.

Eliminates the qualifying phrase "to the maximum extent practicable" in the requirement that specified agreements between Federal agencies assure that decisions on permit applications be made within 90 days of published notice.

National Nuclear Waste Regulation and Control Act of 1980 - Amends the Energy Act of 1974 to extend the licensing and related regulatory authority of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission over specified facilities of the Energy Research and Development Administration to include: (1) facilities used primarily for the receipt and storage or disposal of transuranic waste or low-level radioactive waste (currently only high-level wastes) resulting from activities licensed under such Act; and (2) retrievable surface facilities and other facilities authorized for the purpose of long-term storage or disposal of transuranic wastes or nondefense low-level radioactive wastes (currently only high-level wastes) generated by the Administration, which are not used for, or part of, research and development activities. Requires that the Commission, prior to the issuance of any such construction authorization, license, or license amendment, determine that: (1) such issuance would (a) present no unreasonable risk to public health and safety and not be inimical to the common defense and security and (b) be consistent with all applicable environmental standards promulgated by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) pursuant to authority under existing law; and (2) such facility incorporates multiple barrier design.

Directs the Secretary of Energy and the Commission to establish a pilot program for auditing selected nuclear waste storage facilities of the Department of Energy, that are not subject to the Commission's licensing and related regulatory authority under such Act, to determine whether there is a need to grant the Commission authority over such facilities. Directs the Secretary of Energy and the Commission to: (1) submit to the Congress a memorandum of understanding delineating their respective responsibilities for conducting such program; (2) select the facilities to be included in such program; and (3) submit reports and written assessments to Congress. Authorizes the President to order the immediate suspension of any activity of the Department or the Commission under such program upon determination that such activity will jeopardize the common defense and security. Provides that such order remain in effect in the absence of timely adoption of a joint resolution of disapproval by the Congress.

Directs the Commission to require submission of: (1) a site characterization plan, including alternative media and sites, in advance of approving the characterization of any individual site for a geologic storage or disposal facility under specified provisions of the Energy Reorganization Act of 1974; and (2) at least four site characterization reports for sites at different locations and in at least three different geologic media by the Secretary, in consultation with the U.S. Geological Survey, prior to consideration of an application for authorization to construct such a facility, in order for the Commission to discharge its responsibility under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

Directs the EPA Administrator to promulgate standards for offsite releases of radioactivity from facilities for the long-term geologic storage or geologic disposal of high-level radioactive waste and transuranic waste. Directs the Commission to promulgate technical criteria for review of applications for geologic disposal facility: (1) construction authorizations; (2) licenses to emplace radioactive waste; and (3) license amendments for decommissioning. Directs the Secretary to submit to the Commission at least four site characterizations (by 1985) and an application (by 1989) for authorization to construct a geologic disposal facility. Directs the Commission to act on such application by 1993. Directs the Secretary to submit to the Commission, by 1998, an application for a license to emplace radioactive wastes in any such facility for which the Commission has authorized construction. Directs the Commission to act on such application by the year 2000.

Directs the President to submit annual reports to the Congress on the status of the National Nuclear Waste Management Program and on the measures being taken to meet the national schedule outlined above. Directs any responsible agency or official or the Secretary to immediately notify the President upon determination that specified requirements will not be met by the date specified. Directs the President to promptly submit to the Congress a report: (1) on why such requirements will not be met; (2) on whether Congress should prohibit additional nuclear powerplant construction permits and operating licenses in light of such failure to meet requirements; and (3) on the impact of such failure on meeting subsequent requirements. Directs specified committees of Congress to submit reports and recommendations within 60 days of receiving the President's report and recommendations. Prohibits the Commission from issuing a construction permit or an operating license for any nuclear powerplant until after it issues a license for emplacement of radioactive wastes in a geologic disposal facility if, by the year 2000, it has not issued such an emplacement license.

Directs the Secretary to: (1) identify the States in which potentially acceptable sites for a facility for the geologic storage or disposal, including test disposal, of high-level or transuranic wastes; and (2) notify the Governor, the State legislature, and the Tribal Council of any affected Indian tribe in such States. Grants each such State and affected Indian tribe the right to concur or not concur, based on legitimate public health and safety or environmental concerns, in all stages of facility planning, siting, development, construction, and operation. Directs the Secretary to enter into negotiations with each such State and affected Indian tribe to establish formal arrangements under which such right may be exercised. Provides for public participation in such negotiations. Directs the Secretary to submit such arrangements for Presidential and Congressional review and approval. Prohibits the Secretary from proceeding beyond site exploration before a formal agreement with the State and any affected Indian tribe has been entered into. Provides for reports on the status of negotiations and of approved arrangements.

Requires that any program establishing a federally owned and operated system for the interim storage of spent fuel at away-from-reactor facilities be consistent with the policy of: (1) minimizing the need for such facilities by encouraging and assisting the storage of spent fuel at nuclear powerplant sites; (2) accepting Federal custody of spent fuel only if there is reasonable expectation of timely and adequate storage capacity at the powerplant site; and (3) assuring full cost recovery by the Federal Government for construction and operation of Federal away-from-reactor storage facilities.

Prohibits the Secretary from contracting for such a Federal away-from-reactor storage facility without express provision for the powerplant owner and operator: (1) retaining title to the spent fuel; and (2) bearing full financial responsibility for such person's share of the cost of Federal storage.

Prohibits the Secretary from entering into any obligation to construct or acquire such a storage facility until the President has submitted a proposal to construct or acquire the facility to the Congress and a period of 60 days of continuous session has elapsed without the passage of a concurrent resolution disapproving the President's proposal. Prohibits the Secretary from entering into any obligation to acquire an existing facility to provide away-from-reactor spent fuel storage, if such acquisition is not limited to actual spent fuel storage facilities needed for an away-from-reactor facility, unless the Secretary specifically determines that the acquisition of such storage facilities only is not practicable. Prohibits the use of such an acquired facility for any purpose other than away-from-reactor storage of spent fuel unless such use is expressly authorized by law. Requires that a detailed statement, with specified inclusions, accompany any proposal by the President to construct or acquire an away-from-reactor spent fuel storage facility.

Prohibits the Secretary from contracting with a person owning or operating a nuclear powerplant to provide interim storage of spent fuel unless such powerplant has been identified by the Secretary, with the concurrence of the Commission, in the President's statement or through an expedited review procedure, as being one for which there is no reasonable expectation of timely and adequate capacity for onsite storage of spent fuel. Waives such requirement of concurrence if the Commission fails to act within 45 days of receipt of such determination by the Secretary.

Conditions the issuance of a license for any nuclear powerplant for which an application for a construction permit has not been filed by June 1, 1980, upon the provision by such powerplant of adequate onsite storage capacity for the spent fuel to be generated over such powerplant's useful life or until such time as the Commission determines that a specified repository for the long-term geologic storage or geological disposal of high-level radioactive waste and transuranic waste will be in operation.

Allows persons filing an application for a license to construct and operate an independent spent fuel storage installation at the site of a nuclear powerplant to petition the Commission for authorization to begin construction prior to, or before the completion of, any required hearing. Requires that such petitions be accompanied by affidavits setting forth facts establishing that: (1) there is a reasonable expectation that denial will prevent the provision of timely and adequate onsite spent fuel storage; and (2) the capacity of existing onsite spent fuel storage facilities has been expanded to the maximum extent practicable. Directs the Commission to grant such petitions if the petitioner has established such facts and if there is a reasonable expectation that: (1) the requirements (other than that of a prior hearing) of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, Commission rules and regulations, and the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 will be met; and (2) the design, construction, and operation of such independent fuel storage installation, as described and analyzed in the license application, will present no significant risk to the public health and safety and the environment. Prohibits the Commissioner from granting such petitions after January 1, 1991.

Treats losses on such debentures as ordinary losses. Allows an interest expense deduction for interest and share-of-earnings payments made on such a debenture.

Denies any suspension of credit reduction to any State which has changed its tax and benefit structure so as to reduce the solvency of its unemployment compensation system.

Allows renewal of a suspension of credit reduction if a State repays at least one-half of the amount of advances required to be repaid during the year of the suspension.

Requires issuance of such interim report only upon timely request by such employee, and then within 30 days after receipt of such request.

Allows a credit against the individual income tax for incentive stock (original issue common or preferred stock) acquired in a domestic corporation whose equity capital does not exceed $15,000,000 immediately before the unrestricted public offering of such stock. Specifies the amount of such credit to be an amount equal to the sum of: (1) ten percent of the first $10,000 of such taxpayer's adjusted basis; plus (2) five percent of any other amount of such adjusted basis. Limits such credit to $3,000 annually ($6,000 in the case of a married individual filing a joint return). Provides a transitional limit of $1,500 ($3,000 for a joint return) for 1981.

Creates a category of incentive stock options for employees, who would not be required to pay tax at the time such an option is exercised and would receive capital gains treatment on the proceeds of any subsequent sale of such stock. Denies the employer any deduction with respect to such stock either at the time of option exercise or at the time of subsequent sale.

Requires the issuance of any such option, with shareholder approval, at 100 percent of fair market value. Accepts any stock later determined to be undervalued if issued with a good faith effort to make such issue at not less than fair market value. Allows exercise of such option up to ten years after issuance, and in any sequence.

Limits long-term capital gain treatment to the sale of incentive stock held by the employee at least two years after the grant of the option and one year after exercise. Subjects any such stock sold within two years after option grant to ordinary income treatment.

Requires an employee to remain an employee continuously from grant to three months prior to exercise. Prohibits the employee from owning more than ten percent of the voting power or value of the stock of the company unless the option price is at least 110 percent of fair market value.

Allows a corporation engaged in certain market making activities a deduction from gross income for additions to a reserve for gains for such activities during the taxable year. Defines "market making activities" as the purchase and sale of over-the-counter equity securities by a dealer in securities, or any specialist permitted to act as a dealer, who holds himself out as being willing to buy and sell over-the-counter equity securities for his own account on a regular or continuing basis. Limits eligible securities to over-the-counter equity securities of corporations which, on the last day of the taxable year of the taxpayer preceding the taxable year of the sale or exchange, had $25,000,000 or less of equity securities in such corporation outstanding.

Restricts the availability of such deduction to a reserve which has no more than $1,000,000 as of the close of the taxable year, after specified required adjustments. Prohibits any deduction if the amount of the additions to the reserve for the taxable year exceeds 30 percent of the fair market value of average monthly inventory positions carried for market making activities by the taxpayer during such year.

Increases from $150,000 to $250,000 ($200,000 for 1981) the minimum credit against the accumulated earnings tax for corporations.

Increases the cost of used equipment eligible for the investment tax credit: (1) in general, from $100,000 to $200,000 ($150,000 for 1981); and (2) for a married individual filing a separate return, from $50,000 to $100,000 ($75,000 for 1981).

Exempts from the excise taxes on gasoline, diesel and special motor fuels any such fuels used in connection with intercity, local and school buses.

Allows a taxpayer to elect not to recognize a certain amount of gain from the sale of small business stock, if the proceeds of such sale are used to purchase other small business stock within 18 months. Limits recognition to that portion of any gain in excess of the cost of such other stock. Requires the reduction of the basis of any such subsequently purchased stock by the amount of gain not recognized. Limits small business stock to stock in businesses whose equity capital does not exceed $15,000,000.

Reduces the corporate tax rate schedule as follows: (1) from 17 percent to 15 percent of the first $25,000 of income; (2) 30 percent of income between $50,000 and $100,000 (currently $75,000); (3) 40 percent of income between $100,000 and $150,000 (currently, between $75,000 and $100,000); and (4) 46 percent of income in excess of $150,000 (currently $100,000).
